Save Sugar For Our Soldiers And The Allies

No. 37.

BY MAUI WOMEN

A Department Of Domestic Economy Intended To Serve A Patriotic Purpose In Conserving Food Needed By The Allied Armies In Europe.

Medina Brown Bread

1 egg
1 c. buttermilk or sour milk
1/2 c. honey
1 t. salt
1 1/2 c. cornmeal
1 c. seedless raisins
1/2 c. rye flour
1 t. soda.

Put the seedless raisins to cook in a very little water and let simmer until the water is absorbed. Stir together the egg, milk and honey. Into this sift the cornmeal, rye, soda, and salt. Flour the cooked raisins lightly and add. Pour into 2 one-pound baking powder tins and steam uncovered for 2 hours. Do not cut until cold.

Mrs. Kiester.

War Time Cookies

2 c. rolled oats
1 c. flour
1/2 t. salt
2 heaping tb. baking powder
1/2 c. crisco
6 walnuts

Use sufficient milk and water to make a thick batter. Drop on well greased tin, bake and break apart.

Miss Albrecht.

Sandwiches And Sense

At all the affairs, formal and informal, one is beginning to find evidences of Hooverizing. Sandwiches no longer take on new and strange costumes, and the airs and graces of former days have departed. The fantastic shapes which required much waste of bread are tabu. As evidence of this, there is a good tale that comes from the inner circle of the Burlingame set. The chateleine of one of the beautiful homes down there had a group of friends come in to make comfort bags for the soldiers. At tea time the maids arrived, and the first sandwiches which were offered brought Ohs! and Ahs! of admiration. They were perfect miniature replicas of American flags. The first woman to whom they were passed was a quiet but much beloved and respected person, who refused them. "Oh, take one!" urged the hostess. "I can't," very simply answered the conscientious objector. "I've signed the Hoover pledge, and nothing could be more wasteful of material and effort than such sandwiches. Think of the number of imperfect ones, which must have been thrown away, to say nothing of the time and material wasted in the production of these perfect ones."

Whereupon the hostess, being of the right sort, herself admitted that it was ridiculous to serve refreshments of that sort, or of the kind that made up the rest of her tea menu, and still think that one was doing one's patriotic duty, and every woman there got a more practical idea of food conservation.—San Francisco News-Letter.
